SMAR JBEIL

WORTH THE VISIT!

Smar Jbeil is known as one of the oldest Lebanese villages. It contains many remains dating back to the Canaanites and Phoenicians, such as catacombs, sarcophagi, mills, wells....

The village, and especially the fortress, is built on a rocky cliff overlooking the Mediterranean Sea.

Its churches are historical and miraculous. Mar Nohra is a Lebanese Saint, the patron saint of the eyes and the sense of sight. The blessed water in the church and at his well in front of the fortress is renowned for its miraculous virtues for healing the eye problems. The old church of Saydet El Maounat just behind Mar Nohra have a century old oak as a ceiling.
